THE CITADEL OF 1949

Foreword

The senior class of 1949 sincerely hope that when you look at this Citadel, it will bring back memories of your school days.

Within these covers, is a picture of our lives at H. H. S., our faculty, and classmates.

We wish to thank our advisor, Mrs. Palicki, our principal, Mr. Prible, the faculty for their help and patience and also the local merchants, who have assisted by purchasing ads.

This Citadel was made possible through planning and hard work. May it serve to bring you many fond memories.

Editor and Associate Patricia Kelham and Clem Wetzel

Mary Palicki

We Wish To Dedicate:

To Mrs. Mary Palicki, who, through her untiring efforts helped us prepare this 1949 Citadel and hurdle some of the obstacles of our school life, we wish to dedicate this book.

TRUSTEES

David Hyndman and Almon Smith, trustees for Eel-River and Perry Townships, respectively, have completed their sixth year in successfully managing the affairs of Eel River-Perry Consolidated.

PRINCIPAL

After three years of principalship at Huntertown Mr. Prible has effected many changes for the betterment of the school.

History of Class of '49

In the year 1937 we found Mildred Sauders helping George Hatch, Sonny Decker, Dorothy Forrest, Bertha Emrich, Clem Wetzel, Ruth Opliger, Junior Houser, Martha Dice, Marilyn Gump, Robert Jones, Beulah Sloffer, Lois Longenecker, Jack Walter, Diane Amstutz, Phil Dickes, Pat Kelham, George Dunten, Merlyn Hess, Betty Phillips, Ed Myers, Byron McBride, Mary Freeman, Eileen May and Sherry Witham into their boots and blowing their noses. Hurrah! We passed the 1st grade.

During the 2nd grade one fishee was added to the school. This was Don Smith. No fishees were added to the 3rd grade. In the 4th grade four fishees swam in; Jean Shank, Charlene Smith, Bob Horstmeyer, and Lowell Brown. Twenty-nine fishees swam into the 5th grade. In the 5th grade thirty-two lovely fishees were netted by the lucky fishermen, (Herbert Gump and Lela Dunten), the added three being Joan Wappes, Wanda Waterson, and Les Thomas. During the next few years there were a few more added to the school; Imogene Barhydt, Ruth Greuter, Jack McComb, Phil Reicke, and Dale Adams.

In June 1945, the fishees swam to the Shrine and brought back their blurred diplomas because we were not yet blessed with pens which write under water.

In the freshmen year the fishees were joined by many tadpoles from surrounding schools. These included Trella Gross, Phyllis Hurst, Ray Leiter, Paul Gause, Robert Lutter, Richard Oakes, James Simon, Sally Whan, Norma Stirlen, Clem Bilger, Betty Fritz, Annamae Bowser, Joan Schenher, Leola Johnson, June Wilson, and Robert Hawk. The kingfisher in the freshman year was George Dunten, who was assisted by his mermaid, Jean Shank. Our sponsor was Miss Dill—now Mrs. Burns.

Throughout the sophomore year the moss became thicker. Jack McComb had to lead the way through with his assistants Sherry Witham, Paul Gause, and Bob Lutter. Romona Howard, Betty Knafel, Marilyn Deetz, and Barbara Mackey were added to our class. Our class was sponsored by Mrs. Palacki and Mr. Appleman.

The president, Don Smith, held in his fin, the underwater pen which laid out the work for the junior class and was assisted by Jean Shank, Ed Myers, and Jack Walter. Don Bauer was the only one to enter our class during that year. One of our activities was the Junior and Senior Banquet, the theme of which was "Stairway to the Stars." On October 30, "Strictly Formal," our Junior Play, was given and it turned out to be the best play in the history of H. H. S. We were vastly helped along by Miss Enley and Mr. Sible.

In 1949, now as Seniors, our sponsors are Mrs. Ferry, Mrs. Smith and Mr. Prible. Our class officers are Paul Gause, Clem Wetzel, Jack Walter, and Byron McBride. "One Step at a Time, but Always Forward," has been chosen as the class motto, the colors are blue and silver, and the flower is a white rose. Our class play is "Don't Take My Penny". Now we are leaving the tributary of Huntertown and are swimming into the ocean of life.

Class Prophecy

In the year 2049, Clem Bilger invented a submarine that takes us down to the city where Davy Jones lives. The captain of the vessel is none other than the bashful, backward, timid, curly haired Don Pranger. As we go aboard the ship, we see that dashing girl of the class, Leola Johnson directing passengers, and making us very comfortable. In cabin No. 1 is that very famous movie actress, Wanda Waterson, and her publicity manager, Ray Leiter, who is proposing to Wanda without success. They are sailing to Davy Jones' locker in search of a lost treasure, which was lost by the millionaire of the class, June Wilson. In cabin No. 2 is Annamae Bowser who is going down to see her long, lost lover, Bob Lutter, who collects the different species of sharks. Who should come out of our cabin to meet us but the skinney farmer boy of the class, Dale Adams. He has invented a contraption, by which he can dry up the ocean bottom to grow pop-corn to feed his fat wife, the former Phyllis Hurst.

On arrival at Huntertown, where Davy Jones' locker is located, we find the mayor of the town, Sherry Witham and the Chief of Police, Betty Knafel. Betty and Sherry are learning a new dance routine from that famous dance instructor, "Twinkle-Toes" Byron McBride.

They are dancing to the soothing music of Mary Freeman and Lois Longenecker, two very prominent violinists. Next we walk down the famous "Allen's Alley" of Huntertown and meet up with Professor Clem Wetzel. Professor Wetzel seems to be very disturbed by the fact that Dale Adams is going to pump the bottom of the ocean dry because he's afraid Dale is going to harm all the beautiful mermaids. Going on we are approached by that Jolly "fish", Junior Houser, who says as he swims toward Beulah Sloffer and Pat Kelham, "Here I am you lucky girls, come and get me", and so Pat and Beulah start swimming the other way. We feel sorry for Junior and try to cheer him up by singing "Better Luck Next Time." Proceeding through "Allen's Alley," we walk into the photographer's shop owned by Don Smith. Meanwhile, Don is trying to take a family picture of Phil Dickes and his wife, the former Romona Howard. The only trouble is that Don can't seem to get the attention of Romona and Phil's ten kids at the same time. Leaving the camera shop, we just walk out the door when who should we see going in to get their pictures taken in their red with purple polka-dot bathing suits, but Marilyn Gump and Martha Ann Dice. Farther on down main street, we go into Bertha Emrich's dress designing shop. She is just fitting a dress on her model, Jean Shank who is substituting for a whale who she is selling the dress to. We keep walking and see the two business-like ladies of our class, Joan Schenher and Trella Gross, running a manufacturing plant making that healthful drink, "Bubble Up" or "Double Up". We find the main drinker of this, none other than that famous muscle-man, James Simon, who has just won a contest for the man having the most muscles in his feet. His wife, the former Marilyn Sue Deetz is just thrilled to pieces because James has won this contest and is buying him some more of that wonderful muscle building drink, "Bubble Up". Walking on through Allen's Alley we stop at the movie theater managed by Merlyn Hess. The very adorable ushers Merlyn picked to seat his audience are the two tall girls of our class, Charlene Smith and Betty Fritz. They very kindly lead us to the only vacant seats in the theater in the very front row. We can't complain because the seats are comfortable and we are tired of walking. We are surprised to see that the star players are two members of our class, I. Barhydt and Paul Gause, (By the way Imogene was voted the prettiest girl and Paul the most handsome boy by our class), playing in a movie entitled, "Just try and forget me when it's time to scratch your back". We find the show very entertaining but we begin to get sleepy so we decide to leave the theater and proceed through the town. Directly across the street from the theater, we go into the Radio Station run by Arthur Blanchard and his wife, the former Diane Amstutz. At the moment we walk in we hear that famous bass singer, George Hatch, singing the song he made famous, "Bells Of The Sea". We get there just in time to see Eddie Myers, a famous radio announcer for the program "How to Stay Single," pick up Ruth Opliger who swoons and faints everytime she hears George sing. By the way, Eddie is on the air fifteen minutes everyday and gives advice to all the available bachelors on, "How to Stay Available". Next door we walk into the undertaker's place. The undertaker is none other than Richard Oakes and we see as his assistant, Dr. Les Thomas. They are bandaging up Jack McComb's four broken ribs. Jack got the broken ribs when Betty Phillips ran into him with her automobile. While Betty said she was only learning to drive and declares Jack can't sue her, but she doesn't care if he sues her driving instructor Bob Horstmeyer. This definitely put Bob on the spot as he was teaching Betty to drive with one hand and this isn't allowed. After a while, we hear that Jack isn't mad at Bob anymore since Bob consented to let Jack teach him the proper technique on driving with one hand. Walking on through Allen's Alley, we come to the school house. We find there, one of the best educated teachers in the world, Wanda Gordon, teaching the little fishes, Eileen May and Joan Wappes, their A, B, C's on how to catch a man. Next, we knock at the door of a cute little brick house owned and cared for by Don Bauer, who baby sits with the children of his and his wife the former Barbara Mackey, while his ambitious wife works at the Glue Factory owned by Lowell Brown. Next we run across Sally Whan and Ruth Greuter, a couple of cute mermaids admiring the swimming ability of Phill Riecke, who has just swum across the Atlantic Ocean without tearing off a fin. Next, we see Professor Jack Walters passing out pills Jack has just mixed together, which Jack says will make us live forever. We swallow one of Jack's pills and

Citadel

Appointed as Editor of the Citadel this year by Mrs. Palicki was Pat Kelham. She was ably assisted by Clem Wetzel.

Beulah Sloffer was business manager, assisted by Jack Walters and his helpers, Annamae Bowser, Clem Bilger, and Charles Decker. This group raised the money to make the Citadel possible. Les Thomas was advertising manager and he was assisted by Ed Myers, Don Smith, and George Dunten. The sales manager was Jean Shank and Joan Schenher, Betty Phillips, and Trella Gross, Sherry Witham, Lowell Brown, Bob Lutter, and Byron McBride assisted in selling subscriptions.

The faculty was handled by Norma Stirlen and Phyllis Hurst. Grades one to six were taken care of by Dorothy Forrest, Wanda Waterson, Joan Wappes, Ruth Grueter, Leola Johnson, and June Wilson; Seniors by Betty Fritz and Charlene Smith; the Juniors by Betty Knafel and Marilyn Deetz; the Sophomores by Lois Longenecker and Mary Freeman; and the Freshmen by Marilyn Gump and Bob Hawk. Grades seven and eight were done by Imogene Barhydt, Ruth Opliger, and Eileen May.

A sports-section makes any yearbook complete, so, Sports Editor, Bob Horstmeyer and his assistants Martha Dice, Sally Whan, Jack McComb, and Junior Houser really dug in to make it the best ever. The organizations staff was composed of Paul Gause, Phil Dickes, Barbara Mackey, and Diane Amstutz. Cartoons and various pictures were drawn by the art editors Romona Howard and Bertha Emrich. Pictures were taken for the Citadel by Arthur Blanchard, Don Bauer, Dale Adams, Richard Oakes, and Ray Leiter. "Handymen" were made up of George Hatch, Merlyn Hess, Bob Jones, Jim Simon, and Phil Reicke.

Mrs. Palicki aided the staff with advice and information that made possible the publishing of this yearbook.

Reporters and Typists

Black and Gold Flash

In the fall of '48 we find 30 seniors industriously working to put out their first newspaper. The first people we see as we approach are Charlene Smith, Editor, and Bob Horstmeyer, Associate Editor. Les Thomas, advertising manager and his assistants, Sally Whan and Junior Houser, are on their way out to get ads. As we enter the typing room we find Ed Meyers, Pat Kelham, Betty Phillips, Don Smith, Bob Lutter, Mary Freeman, Imogene Barhydt, Ruth Opliger, and Barbara Mackey, the reporters and typists, faithfully pounding typewriters to get their stories in on time. We find in one corner Betty Fritz, News Editor and Phyllis Hurst, her assistant, arranging the front page of the Black and Gold Flash. We also see Norma Stirlen, Feature Editor, and her assistant, Lois Longenecker, writing feature stories and making up the feature page. The Art Editor, Romona Howard, is drawing some of those cute cartoons you see. As we leave the typing room we meet Joan Schenher, Grades Editor, coming in with the grade news. Down the hall we see Bertha Emerich, Gossip Editor, and her assistant, Jean Shank, listening to a conversation from which they hope to obtain some gossip. As we go past the gym we see Jack McComb, Sports Editor, and Martha Dice, his assistant, trying to get some information from coach, Terry Coonan.

At last the paper is off to press. When it comes back it will be distributed by Phil Dickes, Circulation Manager and George Dunten, his assistant. The proceeds will go to Clem Wetzel, Business manager and his assistant Sherry Witham, to be counted. It's quite a long story from the time the reporters get the first stories until the paper reaches the hands of the H. H. S. students, but by keeping busy and working hard these 30 seniors have made possible the Black and Gold Flash for 1948-49.

Band

Heading the band this year we see Phil Dickes as President, Jean Shank as Vice-President, Pat Kelham as Secretary and Treasurer and Mr. Sloffer, our able Music Director.

Last fall, the band played at the Decatur Halloween Festival and was awarded second prize which amounted to thirty-five dollars. The band played for the Woodburn Day Celebration, Farmers Institute, PTA Festival and of course the basketball games. It maneuvered for six of the games with the best performance for the Churubusco game December the tenth. Santa Claus and his reindeer came out onto the floor and stopped on an imaginary roof top. Santa got out of his sleigh and slid down the chimney to put presents in the stockings that were hanging on the fireplace. While this was going on, the band played Christmas songs.

The band entered the annual Band Festival held at New Haven this year. It played "Men In Gray," "Two Moods," and "Scepter of Liberty."

The music produced by the band has been somewhat different this year. "The Kid Grows Up," a novelty number, "Hair of Gold," a popular tune, and "March of the Toys," an overture were among the most interesting musical numbers during the past year.

There are seven students completing their senior year in the band. They are George Dunten, Paul Gause, Patricia Kelham, Junior Houser, Phil Dickes, Clem Wetzel and Jean Shank.

Chorus

Huntertown's Chorus has more than lived up to it's name this past year.

With Mrs. Grace Drummond as director, the chorus has had several successful concerts and programs. Some of the programs that were given this year are the following: "Minstrel Show" which was a very colorful affair and given at the P.T.A. Carnival, the Christmas Concert, where "The Christmas Story" was paraphrased in verse and sang by choir with Bob Horstmeyer as narrator. A program was given for the Teachers from seven counties on February 5, at the Teachers Institute; the high school was entertained by the chorus, and the last event of the year was the Chorus Festival. This Festival is where all the surrounding county school Choruses come to Huntertown to sing under some well known director. Manard Klein from Michigan was this year's director.

At the Solo and Ensemble contest this year, held in Fort Wayne, a few members of our chorus entered. George Hatch, Joyce Harrod and Beulah Sloffer were the contestants.

BACK ROW: Dave Witham, Dora Whan, Martha Scott, Georgia May, Judith Gatton, Joyce Horstmeyer, Verna Perry, Dorothy Freeman, Betty Phillips.

Library

Something new has been added at H. H. S. this year. A school library was installed for use by the faculty and students.

The library consists of grade and junior high fiction, high school fiction and non-fiction and also reference books of many types. An added attraction is the latest and most popular assortment of magazines. A reading table is also provided.

Miss Lucinda Enley, English teacher here at Huntertown is the head librarian. The assistant librarians are students from the high school who are helping to make this library a success.

At the Junior-Senior Banquet of 1948 Jean Branning and Bob Hadley reigned as queen and king.

The Huntertown Chapter of the Future Farmers of America participated in several projects during the 48-49 school term.

The F F A entertained their parents at a banquet in December. At this banquet the Honorary Chapter Farmer Degree was conferred upon Edwin Prible, principal; Gene Wakeland, Perry Township 4-H leader and Jim Green, Eel River Township 4-H leader.

The main project this year was the buying of a duroc sow and raising her eleven pigs. The pigs were cared for by Mr. Guinther and all the members of the F F A.

Other projects the F F A participated in were selling magazines and destroying farm pests. Richard Oakes, Phil Dickes, Bob Jones and George Dunten applied for the Hoosier Farmer Degree.

The Dairy Judging team composed of Phil Dickes, Robert Jones, George Dunten and Merlyn Hess placed 1st in the county, 5th in the district, 9th at Purdue, and 7th at the Indiana State Fair.

ATHLETICS

William (Terry) Coonan came to Huntertown to start his career in coaching, after graduating from Indiana University. Terry was born in New Burg, New York but still came to Indiana to get his education. He went three years before leaving college to serve three and a half years in Uncle Sam's Coast Guard. After the war he came back to finish his education at I. U.

During the summer of last year he was a playground instructor in Fort Wayne. His hobbies are fishing and radio. He is very much interested in Indiana basketball, which he says, is a much faster and spirited game than that played in New York.

Class Prophecy

go on to see George Dunten out trying to catch his young pigs which are running through the main street of town under everybody's feet. We hear George remark as he runs past, "If I ever catch those pigs, I'll make pork chops out of them." We feel sorry for George but we are too tired to help him out. Proceeding on, we see Charles Decker and Bob Hawk, two good little boys, who run from all girls within touching distance except the good-looking ones. Right now, they are chasing after Norma Stirlen who is the world's champion woman runner. Robert Jones, the husky lad of the Senior Class, is seen discussing business with his uncle Davy Jones. After a while, we find that we, the Senior Class of '49, feel rather dizzy and when we bring ourselves to, once more we find out that we were all put to sleep by some laughing gas the Chemistry Class made, and we were just dreaming all the time.

Class Will

I, Norma Stirlen, will my freckles and orneriness to Dave Witham.
I, Les Thomas, do hereby will my secret life-time ambition to become a traffic cop to Mr. C. Appleman.
I, Joan Wappes, will my ability to get an engagement ring to Joan Wetzel.
I, Wanda Waterson, will to Bonnie Grimmer my meanness.
I, Clem Wetzel, will to Don Surfus my trombone ability.
I, Jack Walters, will my bashfulness to Joan Phillips.
I, Sally Whan, do hereby will and bequeath to Dora, Joyce, Judy, and Jenny, my ability to keep out of trouble in Mr. Sible's class.
I, Sherry Witham, will all the men in my life (namely my three brothers) to De Maris Martin.
I, June Willson, will my ability to draw in art class to Max Herendeen.
I, Wanda Gordon, will my sheer love for school to any students of this day and age.
I, Lois Longenecker, will my Latin book to any poor innocent student that doesn't know what he's getting into.

TEACHERS WILLS

To Mr. Appleman we will our ability to add three sheep and two cows and get five horses all in the same field.
To Mrs. Burns we will our love to giggle and "cut-up" in art class.
To Mr. Coonan we will our enthusiasm for basketball and our love for curley hair (in the form of crew cuts).
To Mrs. Drummond we will our love for nice quiet study halls and our ability to sell concert tickets.
To Miss Enley we will our love to chew gum in English class and our great ability to act!
To Mr. Fryback we will our humorous joke books and our enormous appetites.
To "Doc" Guinther we will our love to walk home from field trips. (Oh, our aching feet!)
To Miss Heiniger we will our love to talk in study hall without permission.
To Mrs. Hostetler we will our ability to stay within our budget and to eat steak with a salad fork.
To Mrs. Palicki we will our love for her "Taxi" service and our great ability to type.
To Mr. Prible we will our "sneaking ways" to get out of classes without passes, and our love for the good ole rules of H. H. S.
To Mr. Sible we will our love for Chevy's and a ball so he can "get on the ball."
To Mr. Sloffer we will our figures. (Bookkeeping and shorthand figures, that is!)
To Mrs. Smith we will our love to speak when not spoken to and when spoken to, not speak.
To the seventh grade we will our good behavior toward all fellow classmates and teachers.
To the eighth grade we will our success throughout high school.
To the freshman class we will our ability to become great big sophomores.
To the sophomore class we will our success in raising sufficient funds for the Junior-Senior Banquet.
To the Junior class we will our ability to study and work hard and become something in life and our ability to get more than one person on the honor roll.
